DIRECTOR'S REPORT

By Don Fowler

"Life is like a train trip. It's about the journey, not the destination!"

As we continue to grow and develop in our hobby, we continue to improve our skills and continue to raise our personal standards. Over the years, I've made many great friends who have patiently mentored my development and assisted me when I was frustrated or challenged. A few years ago, I realized that the best way to repay that debt was to contribute to the promotion and development of model railroading.

While I have informally helped other folks get started in the hobby, I decided to kick it up a notch and enter the NMRA's Achievement Program. I'm hoping that by completing this program, I can be better prepared to assist and support others as they learn new skills. Since I started, I've obtained certificates for Scenery and Volunteer. I just submitted packages for Official, Author and Electrical and I'm currently working on Civil. Some of the requirements have challenged me and forced me to go beyond my comfort zones, which is a good thing.

Many of you have probably already met the qualification requirements for some of these

New Fall Meet Date

The San Diego Division Fall Meet, originally scheduled for November 8, has been re-scheduled to Saturday, November 15, at the San Diego Model Railroad Museum. Festivities will be getting underway at 11:30 AM, beginning with our traditional pot luck lunch.

Rodger Gredvig, MMR, will present a clinic on "How to Take Magazine-Quality Model Photographs." Rodger always puts on a great clinic, and this will be particularly important if you're going for the Author Certificate in the Achievement Program. We'll have a Show & Tell, a Favorite Model contest (judging will be available, but not required) and a Chinese auction. To round out the activities, you'll be able to visit the layouts of the San Diego Model Railroad Museum.

Remember to arrive early, as parking can be an interesting proposition at Balboa Park. Carpools are encouraged. Remember to enter at the rear, directly into the Pacific Beach Room. See you there!

SUPERINTENDENT'S REPORT

By Ben Sevier

Nothing like a warm October to make you look forward to winter - yes, winter (or what we call winter here in Paradise) is on its way! Holidays, food, fun times, rain (what's that?). Great time of year! And trains help to take your mind off all the gloom and doom around this year.

The Summer Event at John Sigurdson's place was lots of fun - cook out, trains, model judging, business meeting - a little bit of everything. We had a decent turnout for a hot day in August, interesting conversations, and a chance to see John's trains run - if you haven't seen his layout in a while, you're missing some good modeling. I would like to express my appreciation to John for making his place available.

The Holiday Season will be a busy one in the Division. The Fall Meet will be held at the San Diego Model Railroad Museum on Saturday, November 15th beginning at 11:30am with a Pot Luck lunch (be sure to bring food to share), then a clinic on "Photographing Your Layout for the Magazines" by Rodger Gredvig, MMR. Rodger has lots of tips for the best way to get good photos, not just for publication but for your own collection. I'm looking forward to learning a lot, as I'm always impressed by Rodger's photography. We'll have the "bring a model to show and share" table - not a contest, but a way to bring a project you are working on and would like to share, or just some finished items that you'd like to show off. As we have several members working on their AP Certificates, model judging will be available for those who wish to submit themselves to that form of torture. Finally, we'll be having a "Chinese" auction, where donated items are bid upon by attendees (that's you) using tickets to bid - the proceeds go to assist the Division's activities. So, donate some of those items cluttering up your train room (or any other room - doesn't have to be train related), and pass your treasures on. We'll end up the day about 3pm with door prize drawings.

The website ( www.sandiegodivision.org) will list happenings. Speaking of the website, it's been redesigned, with a new look and new features. The "Events" tab has a nice calendar, but we need items to put on there! If you'd like to have your group/club/layout events published, send them to webmaster@sandiegodivision.org, with complete information about the event. And if you have any comments or suggestions about the website please pass them on.

Finally, in December we'll be gathering at the residence of Don & Kim Fowler for the Annual Division Holiday Party. They have a number of fun activities planned for both you and your spouse/guest, along with the ever enjoyable tour of their indoor and outdoor layouts, food, and a gift swap - everyone had a great time last year, so don't miss it!

Next year's calendar is starting to come together, with layout tours, a swap meet, club tours and other activities. If you would like to host a layout tour, please contact me or Don Fowler so we can get you scheduled. We would like to have at least one layout tour a quarter (mine's even going to be open this coming year!), so step up and make yours one of them. In February we'll be having our Annual Swap Meet on the morning of the Winter Meet, so start getting your things together that you'd like to sell/trade, and save up some cash to buy those treasures someone is sure to bring. More details later.

We've had a change in the Division organization. Gordon Miller has taken on the job of Membership Chairman for the Division, relieving Gary of some of his many tasks. Gordon has a lot of ideas on ways to reach out to current and prospective members, and I'm sure he would appreciate any help you can give.

Well, that's about it. I'm looking forward to seeing you at the Fall Meet, or at one the events later in the year. And if you are interested in helping out with the Division operations, don't hesitate to raise your hand! Have a great Holiday Season, and a very Happy New Year!

certificates but may not know it. Some have resisted the program because of the documentation requirements. This is the first area that I am prepared to offer assistance. If you'd like to discuss the program, review my paperwork or have a copy, please let me know. Just like modeling, if there is a prototype to examine, we can use it to create/develop our own work product. I should also add that our AP Chair, Ed Hatch and local MMR's like Rodger Gredvig, John Sigurdson, and Paul Schmitt have been very supportive in this quest.

On a different subject, I can't believe that we're already gearing up for the holiday season but that time is upon us again. Over the years we've all been the victim of a well intended gift giver who presents us with a railroad item that we have no interest in or use for. For non-modelers, it's tough to select the right road name, era, or scale. It can be pretty complicated for them when you think about it. None of us want to appear ungrateful but if it can't be exchanged or re-gifted, it winds up at the next swap meet. You may also be placed in the awkward position of explaining what happened to it or why you're not using it.

So how do we prevent this from happening? Take the opportunity to create a wish list with a variety of items and a broad price range. Our loved ones are usually thrilled to have the guess work taken out of finding a perfect gift and a varied price range makes it possible for everyone to participate. Be sure to include brand, stock numbers and specify your scale and preferred road name. You could help further by identifying the easiest and least expensive location/method to locate and purchase the item by providing a catalog, store name or web site. Make your list available to those you exchange gifts with or post it in a prominent place like on the refrigerator.

Having trouble thinking of items you want or need? How about magazine subscriptions or club membership fees? Are there any new books out there that you want? If you're building a new layout you're going to need basic staples like track, switches and roadbed. Scenery items are always appreciated and quite varied (backdrops, vegetation, structures, vehicles, people, detail parts, etc). What about rolling stock or locomotives? Are you thinking about transitioning from DC to DCC? If nothing comes to mind, there are always gift certificates to your favorite hobby or hardware

Achievement Award Tips

One of the most heard complaints following contest judging is “why did I get such a low score”? Low scores often discourage modelers so much that they swear they will never enter another contest or submit a model for judging ever again. I think we can all understand their frustration, most MMRs felt that way when they began. The problem is usually two-fold: (1) the modeler did not carefully read the requirements (or didn't adequately understand them) and (2) the Judges did not help the modeler to see where the model could be improved to garner more points. Please note the clearly stated purpose of the Achievement Program (found on the judging form matrix), especially the last sentence:

“The purpose of the AP is to recognize and reward good model building. The purpose of contest judging is to choose the winning models in each category. The primary purpose of these guidelines is to help the judges choose the winners. Their secondary purpose is to encourage consistency in scoring. The judges' aim should be to evaluate the models both to inform the modelers of their success and to help them to improve their modeling skills.”

As judges (and any NMRA member can be a judge), the secondary task is to help the modeler identify the opportunities to improve the model and elevate the quality of the work performed. But often, the problem is not the quality of the work, but the amount of work, or lack of description of the work. A four-sided simple plastic kit is obviously not contest (or 87.5 pt) worthy. Neither is a scratch built structure worthy if the amount of parts consists of 4 walls, a roof, a few windows, and a door, no matter how well executed. Remember the advice to include quantity, quality and complexity. So if your model falls short of your expectations, do not be discouraged. Ask the judges (they signed their names at the bottom of the form) how they judged your model and what would bring it up to AP standards. It is part of their job to explain.

If you are new to contests or AP judging here is some important advice: Volunteer to be a judge at a contest before you enter a contest (beginners and experienced judges are often paired). Learn what makes or breaks a model in terms of enough points for a Merit Award. Your own models will benefit from your broadened experience.

Next time, tips on filling out paperwork.

Model Railroads of Southern California Yahoo Group

There's a model railroading resource in Southern California that many of you apparently; don't know about. The Yahoo Group, Model Railroads of Southern California, is a group for model railroaders who live in or model the Southern California area. The group is an invaluable source of model and prototype information, and an on-line meeting place for local modelers. Bob Chaparro, the group Moderator, organizes several layouts tours each year, that are announced and open to only group members. Here's an invitation from Bob.

“Members of the San Diego Division/PSR are invited to join over 760 members of the free on-line Yahoo group, Model Railroads of Southern California.

This is a group for Southern California model railroaders to share their progress, experiences, tips and techniques with each other. And you don't have to have a layout to be a member.

The group publishes daily on-line information on Southern California clubs and upcoming model railroad activities such as train shows, swap meets and conventions.

We also sponsor free, self-guided layout tours. Since 2006 we have sponsored fourteen layout tours from Santa Barbara to San Diego and out through the Inland Empire. Well over 100 layouts have been featured on these tours, including a number of San Diego area layouts.

Check out our group at:

Another Modeling Resource

I recently found a great modeling resource on the web that I'd like to share with you. The Eastern Iowa Division of the Mid-Continent Region publishes the Wig-Wag monthly. You can check it out from their web pages, <http://eid.mcor-nmra.org/index.html>. Many back issues are available.

They have a great multi-part series on Intermodal railroading, and another on the Achievement Program. They also have individual articles from time to time that I've found helpful.

NMRA NEWS

National Model Railroad Association Convention Survey

The NMRA BOD Convention Review Committee (CRC) has developed a survey designed to assist them in determining why members do or do not attend the National Convention. In addition, the survey is designed for responses from NMRA members as well as model railroaders who are NOT members. This survey is for everyone. The survey is being advertised in the current issue of Model Railroader as well.

We need to get the message out so that a wide distribution and response to this survey is achieved. The CRC has requested that the the Regions assist in getting the word out about the survey and encouraging every member, whether or not they attend the National Convention, to respond to the survey with honest and frank answers.

The link to the survey can be accessed from the NMRA website at:

www.nmra.org/survey

and clicking on:

"Take the National Convention survey now."

The survey will be open through the end of November so act now to be sure your opinions are considered. Most answers allow you to enter personal comments as well as selecting one of several provided answers. The more people who participate in this survey, the more effective the information that comes from it will be in designing something that meets the needs of members. There will be prizes available as well. How they will be distributed is unknown at this time.

Lets help the CRC in finding ways to improve our national Conventions so more members and modelers can enjoy them. Please encourage all of your model railroading friends, again whether or not they are NMRA members, to take the survey and give us their feedback.

It only takes about five minutes, and will really help the national organization provide what the members need. Please do your part.

This feature will run every issue that I receive input from the clubs. Use this space to keep us up to date on your current activities. Submit announcements to the editor at any time for the next edition.

The North County Model RR Society

It's been a busy summer for NCMRS. We were featured in the NMRA Anaheim Convention issue of Scale Rails and as a result gained three new members.

We are just completing a 1000 sq ft addition to our club facility. This added space includes a lounge area, a maintenance/repair area, and space for our business office. In addition and most importantly there will be space for an additional layout peninsula.

We are open to the public every Sat from 10:00 am to 4:00 pm. Please see our web site www.ncmrs.org for directions, or call 760-722-7366.

We have a special 4 track demonstration layout set up just for junior engineers. They can bring their own DC train to run if they wish.

Poway Station All Scale Model RR Club

Poway Station has just completed a successful show at Old Poway Park, in conjunction with the annual Train Song Festival and Railroad Movie Under the Stars. If you've never been, mark the first weekend in October on next year's calendar and join us for the fun!

Next up, we have two events on December 13. We expect to have our HO layout at the Great Train Expo in Del Mar on both Saturday and Sunday, the 13th and 14th. Note that this is the second weekend in December, rather than the first as it has been in recent years.

Also on Saturday December 13th, we'll be back at Old Poway Park in the evening for the annual Christmas in the Park event, from 4:30 - 8:30 PM. You can hit the GTE early in the day, then enjoy a turn of the century Christmas celebration while you check out our new N scale layout. This layout will consist of two return loop modules, that can be used as end modules for a loop-to-loop layout that can include Ntrak, oNetrak, Bend Track, or free-mo modules. We're really excited about the many possibilities this will open up. We hope you'll come out and see what we've been up to.

Membership in this exciting modular club is open. We meet Tuesday evenings at various locations. Check our web page, at www.powaystation.org, for more details and contact information.

The San Diego Model Railroad Museum (SDMRRM) hosted a "frightfully fun Halloween Family Day on October 26.

The Lego Train Exhibit opens November 25, and runs through January 17, 2009.

Rebuilding of the library is nearing completion, and we hope to reinstate the popular Mac's Kids' Corner soon.

The semi-annual swap meet on Saturday, February 14, 2009, beginning at 7:00 AM. Enter at the rear door. Swap Meet admission charges apply.

The Museum is currently recruiting for a new docent Group, The Conductors. This group will provide guided tours, educate children's groups, and entertain dignitaries and enthusiasts from around the world. People interested in joining this group should contact Chief Docent Charles Young at 619-696-0199, or cyoung@sdmrm.org.

Please plan to attend the Division Holiday Party on December 13th at our place. There will be trains running, good food, games, a gift exchange, and great fellowship. We all had a great time last year and hope that you'll make it one of your continuing holiday traditions.

Happy Holidays,
